

“THE ORCLAND”

THERE ONCE LIVED A 10 YEAR OLD BOY named Kenneth but everyone called him Chase. One day he was looking for his iPod when he discovered a closet behind the refrigerator. He pushed the refrigerator out of the way and opened the closet and peaked inside. There was a game board with a key and keyhole. Chase put the key in the keyhole and turned it. A code paper and note popped up and he read the note out loud. “Look under the carpet in the living room. There you will find a code. Then type the code on the keypad, pull the lever that is different than the other three.” So, Chase removed part of the carpet and typed in the code “cometotheorcland.” All of a sudden four levers popped up. Three were blue and one was green. He pulled the green one, everything went dark and he found himself in . . .

What happens next?